

African-American Churches Eating Smart and Moving More - A Planning and Resource Guide
Table of Contents

Introduction

- Five Major Reasons for Eating Smart and Moving More
- Cardiovascular Disease
- Cancer
- Diabetes
- Obesity and Overweight
- Cost of Poor Nutrition and Physical Inactivity
- What is Eating Smart?
- Healthy Eating Guidelines
- What Is Moving More?
- Physical Activity Guidelines
- What is a Church-Based Program?
- Benefits of Church-Based Programs

Organizing a Program as a Member of the Congregation

- Meet with Your Pastor
- Identify the Church Coordinator
- Start an Eating Smart and Moving More Committee
- Build Financial Support
- Develop a Program Plan
- Conduct a Health Needs and Interest Survey
- Plan Your Program
- Conduct Special Training
- Publicize and Recruit
- Evaluate the Program
- Celebrate Successes
- Plan Future Programs

Organizing a Program as a Community Health Professional

- Choose the Community Health Professional
- Develop Community Partnerships
- Recruit and Identify Church(es)
- Meet with the Pastor
- Involve the Church
- Identify the Church Coordinator
- Start an Eating Smart and Moving More Committee
- Build Financial Support
- Develop a Program Plan
- Conduct a Health Needs and Interest Survey
- Plan the Program
- Conduct Special Training

Publicize and Recruit
Evaluate the Program
Celebrate Successes
Future Programs

References

Appendix I: Key Resources

Appendix II: Multi-level, Interactive Approach

Appendix III: Sample Policies

Appendix IV: Scripture Readings

Appendix V: North Carolina Faith Community Health Assessment Survey

Appendix VI: Planning and Reporting Form, Sign-In Sheet

Appendix VII: Health Needs and Interests Survey

Appendix VIII: Sample Letters

Appendix IX: Healthy Eating (Eating Smart Program Suggestions)

Appendix X: Increasing Physical Activity (Moving More Program Suggestions)

Appendix XI: Sample Action Plan

Appendix XII: North Carolina Church-Based Success Stories

Appendix XIII: Publicizing Your Efforts

Appendix XIV: Evaluating Your Program